

Variance is the second-most important number to summarize this set of data points